

LESSON 5

The Aphel Stem: Divine Action & Causative Verbs

ܐܦܗܠ

ʾAPHEL

SECTION 1: REVIEW OF LESSONS 1–4

Quick Summary

Before diving into the Aphel stem, let's review the foundational material from the first four lessons:

- Lesson 1: The Syriac alphabet (Estrangela), vowel pointing (seyame, rukkakha), and syllable structure. The triconsonantal root system as the backbone of all Semitic vocabulary.
- Lesson 2: The Peal stem — the basic (ground) stem, equivalent to Hebrew Qal, Arabic Form I. The perfect (suffix conjugation) and imperfect (prefix conjugation) of the root ܟܬܒ (k-t-b, 'write').
- Lesson 3: The Syriac noun system — absolute, emphatic, and construct states. Gender (masculine/feminine), number (singular/plural). The emphatic state as the ordinary determinate form (like the Arabic definite article).
- Lesson 4: The Peal participle (active and passive), prepositions and their pronominal suffixes, and basic clause structure including the Syriac verbless clause for equational statements.

5-Question Warm-Up Drill

Answer these questions using what you've learned. Answers are in Section 9.

1. ܕܠܐ — Give the 3rd m.sg. Peal perfect and its meaning.
2. What are the three states of the Syriac noun? Give an example of each.
3. Translate: ܐܬܐ ܪܒܐ ܐܬܐ (hū rabbā hū)
4. What does the Peal active participle of ܕܠܐ (' -z-l, 'go') look like, m.sg.?
5. Identify the root and stem of the form ܕܠܐܬܐ (ketbat)

SECTION 2: THE DERIVED STEMS — OVERVIEW

One of the most powerful features of Semitic languages — shared by Syriac, Hebrew, and Arabic — is the system of derived verbal stems. A single three-consonant root can generate multiple verbs with systematically related meanings, simply by modifying the vowel pattern and/or adding prefixes or affixes.

This is very different from Greek or Latin, where related meanings usually require entirely different words. In Syriac, once you know a root, you already know the building blocks of an entire semantic family.

The Three Major Active Stems

Stem Name	Formation Pattern	Basic Meaning Shift	Example
Peal	Basic vowel pattern	Basic action / state	ܕܠܐ — katab , 'he wrote'
Pael	Middle root letter doubled	Intensive / Factitive	ܕܠܐ — qaddaš , 'he sanctified'
Aphel	'a- prefix added	Causative	ܕܠܐ — ' ahyā , 'he caused to live'

Cross-Linguistic Comparison

For those coming from Hebrew or Arabic, these correspondences will look familiar:

Syriac	Peal	Paael	Aphel
Hebrew	Qal	Piel	Hiphil
Arabic	Form I	Form II	Form IV
Function	Basic	Intensive/Factitive	Causative

For learners with a Greek background: Greek uses voice (active, middle, passive) and aspect to express some of these distinctions, but there is no exact parallel to the Semitic derived stem system. The Greek causative construction (e.g., πολεῖν + infinitive) expresses what the Aphel does morphologically. Latin similarly uses circumlocutions (facere + infinitive) or prefix verbs for some causative senses.

SECTION 3: THE APHEL STEM

Core Meaning: Causative

The Aphel stem expresses causative action — 'to cause X to happen' or 'to make X do Y.' In theological language, this is the stem of divine action: God ʾahyī (gave life), God ʾaglī (revealed), God ʾaqreb (brought near).

Formation

- Perfect: ʾa- prefix + CeCC pattern (same person suffixes as Peal perfect)
- Participle: m- prefix + CaCC-eC pattern (cf. Peal participle)

Comparison with Other Languages

- Hebrew Hiphil: prefix הִ/הֵ (hi-/he-) added to the root. E.g., hāyāh (live) → heḥyāh (give life); qārāb (draw near) → hiqrīb (bring near/offer). The structural parallel to Syriac Aphel is very close.
- Arabic Form IV: 'a- prefix + CaCaCa → 'aCCaCa. E.g., ḥaraja (go out) → ' aḥraja (bring out); qāraba (approach) → ' aqraba (bring near). The Syriac Aphel prefix 'a- is cognate with Arabic Form IV.
- Greek/Latin: No direct morphological equivalent. Greek uses prefix verbs (e.g., ζῶοποιεῖν, 'to give life') or constructions with ποιεῖν + inf. Latin uses facere + infinitive or prefix verbs.

Aphel Examples: Peal → Aphel

Peal (Syr)	Root	Peal Meaning	Aphel (Syr)	Aphel Translit	Aphel Meaning
ܣܪ	h-y-y	'to live' (Peal)	ܣܪܐ	' aḥyī	'to give life, save'
ܩܪܒ	q-r-b	'to draw near' (Peal)	ܩܪܒܐ	' aqreb	'to bring near, offer'
ܦܩܪ	p-q	'to go out' (Peal)	ܦܦܪܐ	' appiq	'to bring out, produce'
ܢܦܠ	n-p-l	'to fall' (Peal)	ܢܦܠܐ	' appel	'to cause to fall, throw down'

The 'Alap-Lamed-Peh Root ('-l-p) in the Aphel

The root ܠܦܠ ('-l-p) means 'learn' in the Peal stem. In the Aphel, it means 'to teach' — that is, 'to cause someone to learn.' This root will be used for all paradigm tables in Sections 4–5.

SECTION 4: APHEL PERFECT PARADIGM

Root: 'l-p | Stem: Aphel | Meaning: 'to teach'

לפַּעַל Perfect — Full Conjugation

Person	Estrangela	Transliteration	Translation
3 m.sg.	לפַּעַל	'allep	he taught
3 f.sg.	לפַּעַלָּה	'allpat	she taught
2 m.sg.	לפַּעַלְתָּ	'allept	you (m.sg.) taught
2 f.sg.	לפַּעַלְתְּ	'allepti	you (f.sg.) taught
1 c.sg.	לפַּעַלְתִּי	'allpet	I taught
3 m.pl.	לפַּעַלְוּ	'allpū	they (m.) taught
3 f.pl.	לפַּעַלְוּן	'allpī	they (f.) taught
2 m.pl.	לפַּעַלְתֶּם	'alleptūn	you (m.pl.) taught
2 f.pl.	לפַּעַלְתֶּי	'alleptin	you (f.pl.) taught
1 c.pl.	לפַּעַלְנוּ	'allpen	we taught

Formation Notes:

- Prefix: 'a- added before the root (3 m.sg.: 'allep)
- Root-internal vowel: e vowel between R2 and R3 in 3 m.sg.
- Suffixes: Identical to Peal perfect suffixes (-at, -t, -ti, -et, -ū, -ī, -tūn, -tin, -n)
- Note on gutturals: When R1 is Alaph ('), assimilation or lengthening may occur in some forms

Comparison: Hebrew Hiphil Perfect

The Hebrew Hiphil perfect is structurally parallel to the Syriac Aphel perfect, with a causative prefix (הִ- hi-/הֶ- he-) and essentially the same suffix set:

Person	Hebrew (Hiphil)	Transliteration	Translation
3 m.sg.	הֶאֱמִין	he 'ēmīn	he believed (H. Hiphil of ' - m-n)
3 f.sg.	הֶאֱמִינָהּ	he 'ēmīnāh	she believed
1 c.sg.	הֶאֱמַנְתִּי	he 'ēmantī	I believed
3 m.pl.	הֶאֱמִינוּ	he 'ēmīnū	they believed

Comparison: Arabic Form IV Perfect

Arabic Form IV (' aCCaCa) is cognate with the Syriac Aphel. The prefix ' a- and the causative meaning are identical; only the internal vowel pattern differs:

Person	Arabic (Form IV)	Transliteration	Translation
3 m.sg.	أَرْسَلَ	'arsala	he sent (Form IV of r-s-l)
3 f.sg.	أَرْسَلَتْ	'arsalat	she sent
1 c.sg.	أَرْسَلْتُ	'arsaltu	I sent
3 m.pl.	أَرْسَلُوا	'arsalū	they sent

SECTION 5: APHEL PARTICIPLE PARADIGM

Root: ' -l-p | Stem: Aphel | Meaning: 'causing to learn / teaching'

The Aphel active participle expresses ongoing or habitual causative action. It also frequently serves as an adjective. The participle prefix is m- (as in all derived stems).

Form	Estrangela	Transliteration	Translation
m.sg. (active)	ܡܠܦ	ma 'lep	teaching (m.sg.)
f.sg. (active)	ܡܠܦܐ	ma 'lpā	teaching (f.sg.)
m.pl. (active)	ܡܠܦܝܢ	ma 'lpīn	teaching (m.pl.)
f.pl. (active)	ܡܠܦܝܢܐ	ma 'lpān	teaching (f.pl.)

Formation Notes

- Prefix: m- added before the root (same prefix as Pael and other derived-stem participles)
- Vowel pattern: ma ' - + R2 + vowel + R3 (cf. Peal participle kāteb → Aphel ma 'lep)
- Gender/number suffixes: Same as all Syriac participles: m.sg. (unmarked), f.sg. (-ā), m.pl. (-īn), f.pl. (-ān)

Comparison with Hebrew and Arabic

Hebrew Hiphil participle: prefix הַ/הֻ (ma-/me-). E.g., ma 'āmīn (believing/trusting — from 'm-n Hiphil). The m- participle prefix is pan-Semitic.

Arabic Form IV active participle: pattern muCCiC. E.g., mursil (sending/sender — from 'arsala). Note the Arabic Form IV participle has the vowel shift u-i, while Syriac uses a-e.

KEY PATTERN: In all Syriac derived stems, the participle prefix is m-. This is one of the most consistent features of Syriac verbal morphology. If you see a verb beginning with m- that is not a Peal form, suspect a derived-stem participle.

SECTION 6: THEOLOGICAL VOCABULARY

Abstract Nouns and Key Theological Terms

The following twenty terms form the core theological vocabulary of early Syriac Christianity. Many are abstract nouns derived from the same roots as the verbs you are learning.

Estrangela	Transliteration	Meaning	Notes
ܠܚܝܬܐ / ܠܗܝܬܐ	ḥayye / purqānā	salvation / life	Two overlapping terms; ḥayye (life/lives, pl.) often = 'eternal life'; purqānā = 'redemption'
ܠܗܝܬܐ	glāyā	revelation, disclosure	From Aphel 'aglī; cf. Gk apokalypsis, Lat revelatio
ܠܗܝܬܐ	šedārā	sending, mission	From šadar; cf. Heb shāliah (envoy), Gk apostolos
ܠܗܝܬܐ	brīttā	creation	From Peal brā; cf. Heb bārā ', Gen 1:1
ܠܗܝܬܐ	raḥmē	mercy, compassion	Pl. of raḥmā; cognate with Heb raḥmīm, Arabic raḥma
ܠܗܝܬܐ	dīnā	judgment	Cf. Heb dīn (legal judgment), Arabic dīn (religion/ judgment)
ܠܗܝܬܐ	šūbhā	glory, praise	Cf. Heb kābōd; used in doxologies
ܠܗܝܬܐ	ṭaybūtā	grace, goodness	Abstract noun from ṭāb (good); cf. Gk charis, Latin gratia
ܠܗܝܬܐ	haymānūtā	faith, trust	Abstract noun from hayman; cf. Heb 'ēmūnāh
ܠܗܝܬܐ	kēnūtā	righteousness, justice	Cf. Gk dikaiosynē, Heb šēdāqāh
ܠܗܝܬܐ	ḥṭītā	sin, transgression	Cf. Gk hamartia, Heb ḥeṭ
ܠܗܝܬܐ	ma' mūdītā	baptism	Lit. 'immersion'; from ' -m-d; cf. Gk baptisma
ܠܗܝܬܐ	šlūtā	prayer	From š-l-y; cf. Heb tefillah
ܠܗܝܬܐ	'ūlpānā	teaching, instruction	Abstract noun from Aphel 'allep
ܠܗܝܬܐ	nebūtā	prophecy	From n-b-y; cf. Heb nēbū 'āh, Gk prophēteia

ܩܝܡܐ	qyāmā	covenant, resurrection	Double meaning: covenant (cf. Heb bērit) and resurrection
ܟܬܒܐ	ktābā	scripture, writing	From k-t-b; cf. Arabic kitāb, Hebrew kētābīm
ܒܪܟܬܐ	būrktā	blessing	From b-r-k; cf. Heb bērākāh, Arabic baraka
ܪܘܚܐ	rūḥā	spirit, wind, breath	f. noun; cf. Heb rūaḥ, Arabic rūḥ, Gk pneuma
ܫܪܐ	šrārā	truth, reality	Cf. Heb 'ēmet, Gk alētheia; šrār = 'to be firm/true'

Key Aphel Verbs in Theological Context

Estrangela	Translit	Stem	Meaning	Usage Note
ܐܚܝܝ	'aḥyī	Aphel	to save, give life	Causative of ḥ-y-y (live); divine act par excellence
ܐܓܠܝ	'aglī	Aphel	to reveal, uncover	Causative of g-l-y (be revealed); cf. Heb gillāh
ܫܕܪ	šadar	Peal/Aphel	to send	Common verb; šadar/ 'ešdar; cf. Heb šālah
ܒܪܐ	brā	Peal	to create	Note: in Syriac this is Peal (not Aphel); cf. Heb bārā
ܐܟܪܐܝܝܐ	'kraz	Aphel	to proclaim, preach	From k-r-z; kerygmatic vocabulary
ܐܪܝܡ	'rīm	Aphel	to exalt, lift up	Causative of r-m (be high); cf. Heb hērīm
ܐܫܦܠ	'špel	Aphel	to humble, lower	Causative of š-p-l (be low); antonym of 'rīm
ܐܦܪܩ	'praq	Aphel	to redeem, deliver	Causative of p-r-q (be freed); cf. purqānā above
ܩܕܕܫ	qaddaš	Paael	to sanctify, make holy	Preview of Paael; from q- d-š (be holy); cf. Heb qiddēš
ܐܩܪܒ	'aqreb	Aphel	to bring near, offer	Causative of q-r-b (draw near); cf. Arabic qurraba

SECTION 7: THE STORY — PART 5

Yukhannan Preaches to the Crowds

Narrative note: This passage features heavy use of the Aphel stem to describe God's causative actions in history. Notice the verbless clauses used for theological assertions (sentences 6 and 9). Aphel forms are highlighted in the transliteration.

Key Aphel forms in this passage: 'kraz (proclaimed), 'allep (taught), 'ahyī (gave life/saved), 'aglī (revealed), 'aqrebtūn (brought near), 'appaqnī (brought me out), 'ahyat (gave life), 'aqrebtnī (brought me near)

Sentence 1

וַיִּקְרָא יוֹחָנָן בֶּן־זִכְיָא בְּתוֹכָם אֲמָרָא

w-Yukhannan qam b-meṣ ' at ' ammā w- 'kraz 'ennūn

w- (and-) Yukhannan (John) qam (rose/stood) b-meṣ ' at (in-the-midst-of) ' ammā (the-people) w- 'kraz (and-proclaimed) 'ennūn (them)

→ And Yukhannan stood in the midst of the people and proclaimed to them:

Sentence 2

וַיִּשְׁלַח יְהוָה אֶת־יִשְׁכָּרְיָא בְּרִיָּא דְּהַחַיָּה לְמַדְרֵשׁ

Māryā šadar lī d- 'allep yātḵūn 'ūrḥā d-ḥayye

Māryā (the-Lord) šadar (sent) lī (to-me) d- 'allep (that-I-should-teach) yātḵūn (you(pl.)) 'ūrḥā (the-way) d-ḥayye (of-life)

→ 'The Lord has sent me to teach you the way of life.'

Sentence 3

אֱלֹהִים יִבְרָא חַיָּתָא דְּכָל מִדָּה אֲסֵי לְחַיָּתָא דְּכָל מִדָּה

Alāhā d-brā kull medem 'ahyī lkūn b-purqāneh

Alāhā (God) d-brā (who-created) kull (all) medem (thing) 'ahyī (caused-to-live/saved) lkūn (you(pl.)) b-purqāneh (by-his-redemption)

→ 'God, who created all things, has saved you through his redemption.'

Sentence 4

ܡܠܟܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ

Hū 'aglī lān rāzā d-ṭaybūtteh

Hū (He) 'aglī (revealed) lān (to-us) rāzā (the-mystery) d-ṭaybūtteh (of-his-grace)

→ 'He has revealed to us the mystery of his grace.'

Sentence 5

ܡܠܟܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ

w-hāšā 'aqrebtūn l-Alāhā b-haymānūttā

w- (and-) hāšā (now) 'aqrebtūn (you(pl.))-have-been-brought-near) l-Alāhā (to-God) b-haymānūttā (by-faith)

→ 'And now you have been brought near to God through faith.'

Sentence 6

ܡܠܟܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ

Hannū šrārā d-malkūttā d-Alāhā

Hannū (This-is) šrārā (the-truth) d-malkūttā (of-the-kingdom) d-Alāhā (of-God)

→ 'This is the truth of the kingdom of God.'

Sentence 7

ܡܠܟܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ ܕܥܠܡܐ

w- 'ammā šma ' mellāw-hy w- 'etdammer ṭāb

w- (and-) 'ammā (the-people) šma ' (heard) mellāw-hy (his-words) w-
'etdammer (and-marveled) ṭāb (greatly/well)

→ And the people heard his words and marveled greatly.

Sentence 8

אמרו גברא דהוה אנטו אנטו אנטו

w- 'emar gabrā ḥad men 'ammā: man 'ant w-man šedrāk?

w- 'emar (and-said) gabrā (a-man) ḥad (one) men (from) 'ammā (the-people) man (who) 'ant (are-you) w-man (and-who) šedrāk (sent-you)

→ And a man from the people said: 'Who are you, and who sent you?'

Sentence 9

חן נאסא אמרו אנטו אנטו אנטו

'nā Yukhannan w- 'emar: 'enā 'abdeh d-Māryā

'nā (answered) Yukhannan (Yukhannan) w- 'emar (and-said) 'enā (I)
'abdeh (servant-of) d-Māryā (the-Lord)

→ Yukhannan answered and said: 'I am the servant of the Lord.'

Sentence 10

חן אפמך מן מדבארא דאלף לחמ

Hū 'appaqnī men madbārā d- 'allep l- 'ammeh

Hū (He) 'appaqnī (brought-me-out) men (from) madbārā (the-wilderness) d- 'allep (to-teach) l- (to) 'ammeh (his-people)

→ 'He brought me out from the wilderness to teach his people.'

Sentence 11

וְרוּחַ אֱלֹהִים הָיָה וְאַתָּה לִי וְאַתָּה לְמַלְכוּתְךָ

w-rūḥā d-Alāhā hī d- 'aḥyat lī w- 'aqrebtī l-malkūtteh

w- (and-) rūḥā (the-Spirit) d-Alāhā (of-God) hī (she/it-is) d- 'aḥyat (who-gave-life) lī (to-me) w- 'aqrebtī (and-brought-me-near) l-malkūtteh (to-his-kingdom)

→ 'And it is the Spirit of God who gave me life and brought me near to his kingdom.'

SECTION 8: EXERCISES

Exercise 1: Stem Identification

Identify each verb form as Peal or Aphel, give its person/number/gender, root, and English meaning.

#	Estrangela	Transliteration
1	אלפ	'allep
2	כתב	katab
3	אחי	'aḥyī
4	אזל	'azal
5	אקרב	'aqreb
6	מאלפ	ma 'lep
7	שמע	šma'
8	אפיק	'appiq
9	כתב	kāteb
10	אגל	'aglī

Exercise 2: Conjugation Drill

Fully conjugate the following two Aphel verbs in the perfect (all 10 persons) and the participle (all 4 forms). Use the paradigm in Sections 4–5 as a model.

1. Root š-d-r (send) — Aphel: 'ešdar
2. Root r-m (be high) — Aphel: 'rīm (exalt)

Exercise 3: Translation Drill (Syriac → English)

Translate the following sentences into English. All contain Aphel forms.

1. ܐܠܗܐ ܐܗܝܠ ܐܡܡܗ (Alāhā 'ahyī l-'ammeh)
2. ܝܘܚܢܢ ܐܠܦ ܬܠܡܝܕܐܘܗܝ (Yukhannan 'allep l-talmīdāw-hy)
3. ܗܘ ܐܦܦܝܩ ܠܗܘܢ ܡܢ ܒܝܬ ܐܫܘܪܐ (Hū 'appiq lhūn men bēt 'esūrā)
4. ܪܘܚܐ ܐܒܠܝ ܫܪܐܪܐ (Rūhā 'aglī šrārā)
5. ܡܪܝܝܐ ܐܩܪܒܢܢ ܠܡܠܟܘܬܗ (Māryā 'aqrebnān l-malkūtteh)
6. ܡܐ ܠܦ ܐܢܐ ܠܟܘܢ ܐܘܪܗܐ (Ma 'lep 'enā lkūn 'ūrḥā)
7. ܐܢܬ ܪܝܡܬ ܠܐܒܕܐܟ ('Ant 'rīmt l-'abdāk)
8. ܗܢܘܐ ܐܘܠܦܢܐ ܕܡܠܟܘܬܐ (Hannū 'ūlpānā d-malkūtā)

Exercise 4: Production Drill (English → Syriac Aphel)

Render the following causative sentences into Syriac using the Aphel stem. More than one correct answer may exist.

1. God revealed his glory to the people.
2. She taught the children the law.
3. The Spirit brought him out of the wilderness.

4. You (m.pl.) have brought near the offering.
5. The prophet gave life to the dead (mītē).
6. The Lord exalted the humble (makīkē).

Exercise 5: Reading Comprehension

Re-read the story in Section 7, then answer the following comprehension questions in complete Syriac sentences if possible, or in English.

1. What did Yukhannan say the Lord sent him to do?
2. What three actions does Yukhannan attribute to God in his speech?
(Name the Aphel verbs.)
3. What question does the man from the crowd ask?
4. How does Yukhannan identify himself?
5. What brought Yukhannan out of the wilderness and brought him near the kingdom?

SECTION 9: ANSWER KEY

SECTION 1 WARM-UP

Q1: Peal perfect 3 m.sg. of k-t-b: ܟܬܒ (katab) = 'he wrote'

Q2: Absolute: ܡܠܟ (malk, 'king'); Emphatic: ܡܠܟܐ (malkā, 'the king');

Construct: ܡܠܟ (malk + genitive, 'king of...')

Q3: 'He is great' — verbless clause with pronoun as copula

Q4:

Q5: Root: k-t-b; Stem: Peal; Form: perfect 2 m.sg. or 1 c.sg. — 'you wrote' or 'I wrote'

Exercise 1: Identification

#	Stem	Person	Root	Meaning
1	Aphel	3 m.sg.	'-l-p	he taught
2	Peal	3 m.sg.	k-t-b	he wrote
3	Aphel	3 m.sg.	ḥ-y-y	he gave life
4	Peal	3 m.sg.	'-z-l	he went
5	Aphel	3 m.sg.	q-r-b	he brought near
6	Aphel Ptcp	m.sg.	'-l-p	teaching
7	Peal	3 m.sg.	š-m-ʿ	he heard
8	Aphel	3 m.sg.	p-q	he brought out
9	Peal Ptcp	m.sg.	k-t-b	writing/writer
10	Aphel	3 m.sg.	g-l-y	he revealed

Exercise 3: Translation

#	Translation
1	God saved his people.
2	Yukhannan taught his disciples.
3	He brought them out of prison.
4	The Spirit revealed the truth.
5	The Lord brought us near to his kingdom.
6	I am teaching you the way.
7	You (m.sg.) have exalted your servant.
8	This is the teaching of the kingdom.

Exercise 4: Production (sample answers)

1. Alāhā 'aglī šūbhēh l- 'ammā

2. 'allepat l-yalūdē nāmūsā

3. Rūḥā 'appaqēh men madbārā

4. 'aqrebtūn qūrbānā

5. Nebīyā 'aḥyī l-mītē

6. Māryā 'rīm l-makīkē

Exercise 5: Comprehension

#	Answer
1	To teach them the way of life ('ūrḥā d-ḥayye).
2	'aḥyī (saved/gave life), 'aglī (revealed), 'aqrebtūn (brought near).
3	'Who are you, and who sent you?'
4	As the servant ('abdeh) of the Lord.
5	The Spirit of God (Rūḥā d-Alāhā).

SECTION 10: GRAMMATICAL SUMMARY

THE APHEL STEM — FORMATION RULES

Feature	Rule	Example
Perfect prefix	'a- (Ayin-Alaph) before root	'a + R1 + e + R2 + suffix
Perfect 3 m.sg.	'a + R1R2eR3 (no suffix)	'allep, 'aḥyī, 'aqreb
Suffix set	Same as Peal perfect	-at, -t, -ti, -et, -ū, -ī, -tūn, -tin, -n
Participle prefix	m- before root	m + ' + R2 + e + R3
Participle 3 m.sg.	ma' + R2eR3	ma'lep
Participle suffixes	Same as all participles	-ā (f.sg.), -īn (m.pl.), -ān (f.pl.)
Core meaning	Causative	'to cause X to happen' / 'to make X do Y'

Meaning Pattern

PEAL (basic) + 'a- prefix = APHEL (causative) 'to X' → 'to cause to X' / 'to make X happen' ḥ-y-y: live → 'aḥyī: give life/save | q-r-b: draw near → 'aqreb: bring near | p-q: go out → 'appiq: bring out

Comparative Summary: Three Stems

Stem	Meaning	Perfect 3 m.sg.	Participle m.sg.	Translation
Peal	Basic	katab	kāteb	'he wrote' / 'writing'
Paael	Intensive/Factitive	qaddaš	mqaḍdeš	'he sanctified' / 'sanctifying'
Aphel	Causative	' allep	ma 'lep	'he taught' / 'teaching'

Remember: In all three derived stems (Paael, Aphel, Ethpaael, etc.), the active participle always takes a m- prefix. This is your clearest signal that you are reading a derived-stem participle.

SECTION 11: ADDITIONAL VOCABULARY

The following high-frequency words round out this lesson's vocabulary to 30 terms.

ESTRANGELA	TRANSLITERATION	GENDER/TYPE	MEANING
ܩܪܝܬܐ	qritā	f	village
