

LESSON 5

The Aphel Stem: Divine Action & Causative Verbs

ܐܦܗܠ

ʾAPHEL

SECTION 1: REVIEW OF LESSONS 1–4

Quick Summary

Before diving into the Aphel stem, let's review the foundational material from the first four lessons:

- Lesson 0: The Estrangela alphabet, letter order, and the non-joining letters.
- Lesson 1: The noun system (gender, number, and the absolute, construct, and emphatic states), independent pronouns, verbless clauses, and the particles d- (relative/possessive) and l- (to/for, direct object).
- Lesson 2: The Peal stem and its active participle. With enclitic pronouns, the participle forms the narrative present (kāteb-nā, “I am writing”).
- Lesson 3: The Peal perfect (suffix conjugation) of ܬܒܐ (k-t-b, ‘write’), V-S-O narrative word order, and the conjunction w-.
- Lesson 4: Pronominal suffixes on nouns and prepositions, and the idiom ʾit l- for “to have”.

5-Question Warm-Up Drill

Answer these questions using what you've learned. Answers are in Section 9.

1. ܬܒܐ — Give the 3rd m.sg. Peal perfect and its meaning.
2. What are the three states of the Syriac noun? Give an example of each.
3. Translate: ܗܘ ܪܒܒܐ ܗܘ (hū rabbā hū)
4. What does the Peal active participle of ܐܠܐ (ʾ-z-l, ‘go’) look like, m.sg.?
5. Identify the root and stem of the form ܬܒܬܐ (ketbat)

SECTION 2: THE DERIVED STEMS — OVERVIEW

One of the most powerful features of Semitic languages — shared by Syriac, Hebrew, and Arabic — is the system of derived verbal stems. A single three-consonant root can generate multiple verbs with systematically related meanings, simply by modifying the vowel pattern and/or adding prefixes or affixes.

This is very different from Greek or Latin, where related meanings usually require entirely different words. In Syriac, once you know a root, you already know the building blocks of an entire semantic family.

The Three Major Active Stems

Stem Name	Formation Pattern	Basic Meaning Shift	Example
Peal	Basic vowel pattern	Basic action / state	ܟܬܒ — katab , ‘he wrote’
Paael	Middle root letter doubled	Intensive / Factitive	ܩܕܕܫ — qaddaš , ‘he sanctified’
Aphel	’a- prefix added	Causative	ܐܚܝܬ — ’ahyī , ‘he caused to live’

Cross-Linguistic Comparison

For those coming from Hebrew or Arabic, these correspondences will look familiar:

Syriac	Peal	Paael	Aphel
Hebrew	Qal	Piel	Hiphil
Arabic	Form I	Form II	Form IV
Function	Basic	Intensive/Factitive	Causative

For learners with a Greek background: Greek uses voice (active, middle, passive) and aspect to express some of these distinctions, but there is no exact parallel to the Semitic derived stem system. The Greek causative construction (e.g., ποιεῖν + infinitive) expresses what the Aphel does morphologically. Latin similarly uses circumlocutions (facere + infinitive) or prefix verbs for some causative senses.

SECTION 3: THE APHEL STEM

Core Meaning: Causative

The Aphel stem expresses causative action — ‘to cause X to happen’ or ‘to make X do Y.’ In theological language, this is the stem of divine action: God ’ahyī (gave life), God ’aglī (revealed), God ’aqreb (brought near).

Formation

- Perfect: 'a- prefix + CeCC pattern (same person suffixes as Peal perfect)
- Participle: m- prefix + CaCC-eC pattern (cf. Peal participle)

Comparison with Other Languages

- Hebrew Hiphil: prefix הִ/הֵ (hi-/he-) added to the root. E.g., hāyāh (live) → heḥyāh (give life); qārāb (draw near) → hiqrīb (bring near/offer). The structural parallel to Syriac Aphel is very close.
- Arabic Form IV: 'a- prefix + CaCaCa → 'aCCaCa. E.g., ḥaraja (go out) → 'aḥraja (bring out); qāraba (approach) → 'aqraba (bring near). The Syriac Aphel prefix 'a- is cognate with Arabic Form IV.
- Greek/Latin: No direct morphological equivalent. Greek uses prefix verbs (e.g., ζῶοποιεῖν, 'to give life') or constructions with ποιεῖν + inf. Latin uses facere + infinitive or prefix verbs.

Aphel Examples: Peal → Aphel

Peal (Syr)	Root	Peal Meaning	Aphel (Syr)	Aphel Translit	Aphel Meaning
ܣܪ ܗ-ܝ-ܝ'ܬ	o live' ܣܪ	ܣ * 'aḥyī (Peal)	* 'to give lif	e,	save'
ܩܪܒ ܩ-ܪ-ܒ'	to draw ܩܪ	ܩܪ * 'aqr near' (Peal)	ܐܒ * 'to bring ne	ar,	offer'
ܥܡܢ ܢ-ܦ-ܩ	'to go	ܥܡܢ * 'a out' (Peal)	ܦܦܩ * 'to bring	out,	produce'
ܥܠ ܢ-ܦ-ܠ'ܬ	o fall' ܥܠ	ܥ * 'appe (Peal)	ܠ * 'to cause to f	all,	throw down'

The 'Alap-Lamed-Peh Root ('-l-p) in the Aphel

The root ܥܠܦ ('-l-p) means 'learn' in the Peal stem. In the Aphel, it means 'to teach' — that is, 'to cause someone to learn.' This root will be used for all paradigm tables in Sections 4–5.

SECTION 4: APHEL PERFECT PARADIGM

Root: 'l-p | Stem: Aphel | Meaning: 'to teach'

לפ Perfect — Full Conjugation

Person	Estrangela	Transliteration	Translation
3 m.sg.	לפ 'alep	he ta	ught
3 f.sg.	לפ * 'allpa	t* she	taught
2 m.sg.	לפ * 'alept	* you (m.sg	.) taught
2 f.sg.	לפ * 'alepti	* you (f.sg	.) taught
1 c.sg.	לפ * 'allpe	t* I t	aught
3 m.pl.	לפ * 'allpū	* they (m	.) taught
3 f.pl.	לפ * 'allpī	* they (f	.) taught
2 m.pl.	לפ * 'aleptū	n* you (m.pl	.) taught
2 f.pl.	לפ * 'alepti	n* you (f.pl	.) taught
1 c.pl.	לפ * 'allpe	n* we t	aught

Formation Notes:

- Prefix: 'a- added before the root (3 m.sg.: 'alep)
- Root-internal vowel: e vowel between R2 and R3 in 3 m.sg.
- Suffixes: Identical to Peal perfect suffixes (-at, -t, -ti, -et, -ū, -ī, -tūn, -tin, -n)
- Note on gutturals: When R1 is Alaph ('), assimilation or lengthening may occur in some forms

Comparison: Hebrew Hiphil Perfect

The Hebrew Hiphil perfect is structurally parallel to the Syriac Aphel perfect, with a causative prefix (ה־/הִ- he-) and essentially the same suffix set:

Person	Hebrew (Hiphil)	Transliteration	Translation
3 m.sg.	הִאֱמִין	he 'ēmīn	he believed (H. Hiphil of ' -m-n)
3 f.sg.	הִאֱמִינָה	he 'ēmīnāh	she believed
1 c.sg.	הִאֱמַנְתִּי	he 'ēmantī	I believed
3 m.pl.	הִאֱמִינוּ	he 'ēmīnū	they believed

Comparison: Arabic Form IV Perfect

Arabic Form IV (' aCCaCa) is cognate with the Syriac Aphel. The prefix ' a- and the causative meaning are identical; only the internal vowel pattern differs:

Person	Arabic (Form IV)	Transliteration	Translation
3 m.sg.	أَرْسَلَ	' arsalā	he sent (Form IV of r-s-l)
3 f.sg.	أَرْسَلَتْ	' arsalat	she sent
1 c.sg.	أَرْسَلْتُ	' arsaltu	I sent
3 m.pl.	أَرْسَلُوا	' arsalū	they sent

SECTION 5: APHEL PARTICIPLE PARADIGM

Root: ' -l-p | Stem: Aphel | Meaning: 'causing to learn / teaching'

The Aphel active participle expresses ongoing or habitual causative action. It also frequently serves as an adjective. The participle prefix is m- (as in all derived stems).

Form	Estrangela	Transliteration	Translation
m.sg. (active)	ܡܠܦܐ ma 'lep	teaching	(m.sg.)
f.sg. (active)	ܡܠܦܐ ma 'lpā	teaching	(f.sg.)
m.pl. (active)	ܡܠܦܝܢ ma 'lpī	n teaching	(m.pl.)
f.pl. (active)	ܡܠܦܝܢ ma 'lpā	n teaching	(f.pl.)

Formation Notes

- Prefix: m- added before the root (same prefix as Paael and other derived-stem participles)
- Vowel pattern: ma ' - + R2 + vowel + R3 (cf. Peal participle kāteb → Aphel ma 'lep)
- Gender/number suffixes: Same as all Syriac participles: m.sg. (unmarked), f.sg. (-ā), m.pl. (-īn), f.pl. (-ān)

Comparison with Hebrew and Arabic

Hebrew Hiphil participle: prefix מִ/מֵ (ma-/me-). E.g., ma'āmīn (believing/trusting — from 'm-n Hiphil). The m- participle prefix is pan-Semitic.

Arabic Form IV active participle: pattern muCCiC. E.g., mursil (sending/sender — from 'arsala). Note the Arabic Form IV participle has the vowel shift u-i, while Syriac uses a-e.

KEY PATTERN: In all Syriac derived stems, the participle prefix is m-. This is one of the most consistent features of Syriac verbal morphology. If you see a verb beginning with m- that is not a Peal form, suspect a derived-stem participle.

SECTION 6: THEOLOGICAL VOCABULARY

Abstract Nouns and Key Theological Terms

The following twenty terms form the core theological vocabulary of early Syriac Christianity. Many are abstract nouns derived from the same roots as the verbs you are learning.

Estrangela	Transliteration	Meaning	Notes
ܠܝܚܝܬ / ܠܝܚܝܬܐ	ḥayye / purqānā s	salvation / life (life/li	Two overlapping terms; ḥayye ves, pl.) often = ‘eternal life’; purqānā = ‘redemption’
ܠܝܠܝܐ glāyā	revelation,	From Aphe disclosure	ܠܝܠܝܐ ḡlāyā; cf. Gk apokalypsis, Lat revelatio
ܫܕܪܐ šedārā	sending, miss	From šadar	; cf. Heb šāliah (envoy), Gk apostolos
ܒܪܝܬܐ brittā	creation	From brā	; cf. Heb bārā ’, Gen 1:1
ܪܗܡܐ raḥmē	mercy,	Pl. of raḥmā compassion	; cognate with Heb raḥmīm, Arabic raḥma
ܕܝܢܐ dīnā	judgment	Cf. Heb dīn	(legal judgment), Arabic dīn (religion/judgment)
ܫܒܚܐ šūbhā	glory, praise	Cf. Heb kābōd	; used in doxologies
ܬܝܒܝܬܐ ṭaybūt	grace, goodness	Abstract noun	from ṭāb (good); cf. Gk charis, Latin gratia
ܚܝܡܢܐ haymānūt	faith, trust	Abstract noun	from hayman; cf. Heb ’ēmūnāh
ܠܝܬܝܬܐ kēnūt	righteousness	Cf. Gk dikai justice	osynē, Heb šēdāqāh
ܚܝܬܝܬܐ ḥēttā	sin,	Cf. Gk ha transgression	martia, Heb ḥēṭ
ܡܡܝܬܐ ma ‘ mūdīt	baptism	Lit. ‘immers	ion’; from ‘-m-d; cf. Gk baptisma
ܫܠܝܬܐ šlūtā	prayer	From š-l-y;	cf. Heb tefillah
ܘܠܦܐܢ ’ūlpān	teaching,	Abstract noun instruction	from Aphel ’ālep
ܢܒܝܬܐ nebūt	prophecy	From n-b-y;	cf. Heb nēbū ’āh, Gk prophēteia
ܩܝܡܐ qyāmā	covenant,	Double meaning resurrection	g: covenant (cf. Heb bērit) and resurrection
ܟܬܒܐ ktābā	scripture,	From k-t-b; writing	cf. Arabic kitāb, Hebrew kētābīm

בִּרְכָּה bŭrktā	blessing	From b-r-k;	cf. Heb bĕrākāh, Arabic baraka
רוּחַ rūḥā	spirit, wind	, f. noun; cf breath	. Heb rūaḥ, Arabic rūḥ, Gk pneuma
שְׂרָרָה šrārā	truth, reali	ty Cf. Heb 'ēmet	, Gk alētheia; šrār = 'to be firm/true'

Key Aphel Verbs in Theological Context

Estrangela	Translit	Stem	Meaning	Usage Note
אָהַי 'aḥyī	Aphel	to save, give	Causative of life	ḥ-y-y (live); divine act par excellence
אָגַל 'aglī	Aphel	to reveal,	Causative o uncover	f g-l-y (be revealed); cf. Heb gillāh
שָׂדַר šadar	Peal/Aphel	to send	Common verb;	šadar/ ' ešdar; cf. Heb šālāḥ
בָּרָא brā	Peal	to create	Note: in Sy	riac this is Peal (not Aphel); cf. Heb bārā '
אָרַז 'kraz	Aphel	to proclaim,	From k-r-z; preach	kerygmatic vocabulary
אָרַם 'rīm	Aphel	to exalt,	Causative of lift up	r-m (be high); cf. Heb hērīm
אָפַל 'špel	Aphel	to humble,	Causative o lower	f š-p-l (be low); antonym of ' rīm
אָפַר 'praq	Aphel	to redeem,	Causative o deliver	f p-r-q (be freed); cf. purqānā above
קַדַּשׁ qaddaš	Paael	to sanctify,	Preview of make holy	Paael; from q-d-š (be holy); cf. Heb qiddēš
אָקַר 'aqreb	Aphel	to bring	Causative of near, offer	q-r-b (draw near); cf. Arabic qurraba

SECTION 7: THE STORY — PART 5

Yukhannan Preaches to the Crowds

Narrative note: This passage features heavy use of the Aphel stem to describe God’s causative actions in history. Notice the verbless clauses used for theological assertions (sentences 6 and 9). Aphel forms are highlighted in the transliteration.

Key Aphel forms in this passage: ’kraz (proclaimed), ’alep (taught), ’aḥyī (gave life/saved), ’aglī (revealed), ’aqrebtūn (brought near), ’appaqnī (brought me out), ’aḥyat (gave life), ’aqrebtñī (brought me near)

Sentence 1

וַיִּקְרָא יוֹחָנָן בֶּן־חֲנָנִי בְּתוֹכָם וַיֹּאמֶר

w-Yukhannan qam b-meṣ’ at ‘ammā w-’kraz ’ennūn

w- (and-) Yuxhannan (John) qam (rose/stood) b-meṣ’ at (in-the-midst-of) ‘ammā (the-people) w-’kraz (and-proclaimed) ’ennūn (them)

→ And Yuxhannan stood in the midst of the people and proclaimed to them:

Sentence 2

וַיִּשְׁלַח יְהוָה אֶת־מֹשֶׁה וְאַהֲרֹן לְדַבֵּר אֶל־בְּנֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל

Māryā šadar lī d-’alep yātḵūn ’ūrḥā d-ḥayye

Māryā (the-Lord) šadar (sent) lī (to-me) d-’alep (that-I-should-teach) yātḵūn (you(pl.)) ’ūrḥā (the-way) d-ḥayye (of-life)

→ ‘The Lord has sent me to teach you the way of life.’

Sentence 3

אֱלֹהִים יְבָרַךְ כָּל־מְדָמָא דְּבְרָא וְלֹאֵן

Alāhā d-brā kull medem ’aḥyī lḵūn b-purqāneh

Alāhā (God) d-brā (who-created) kull (all) medem (thing) ’aḥyī (caused-to-live/saved) lḵūn (you(pl.)) b-purqāneh (by-his-redemption)

→ ‘God, who created all things, has saved you through his redemption.’

Sentence 4

ܡܠܟܘܬܐ ܕܪܐܝܬܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ

Hū 'aglī lān rāzā d-ṭaybūtteh

Hū (He) 'aglī (revealed) lān (to-us) rāzā (the-mystery) d-ṭaybūtteh (of-his-grace)

→ 'He has revealed to us the mystery of his grace.'

Sentence 5

ܡܠܟܘܬܐ ܕܪܐܝܬܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ

w-hāšā 'aqrebtūn l-Alāhā b-haymānūtā

w- (and-) hāšā (now) 'aqrebtūn (you(pl.)-have-been-brought-near) l-Alāhā (to-God) b-haymānūtā (by-faith)

→ 'And now you have been brought near to God through faith.'

Sentence 6

ܡܠܟܘܬܐ ܕܪܐܝܬܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ

Hannū šrārā d-malkūtā d-Alāhā

Hannū (This-is) šrārā (the-truth) d-malkūtā (of-the-kingdom) d-Alāhā (of-God)

→ 'This is the truth of the kingdom of God.'

Sentence 7

ܡܠܟܘܬܐ ܕܪܐܝܬܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ ܕܗܝܠܐ

w- 'emar (and-said) gabrā (a-man) ḥad (one) men (from) 'ammā (the-people) man (who) 'ant (are-you)

w-man (and-who) šedrāk (sent-you)

→ And a man from the people said: 'Who are you, and who sent you?'

Sentence 9

חָא אָמַר גַּבְרָא חָד מִן אַמְמָּא

'nā Yukhannan w- 'emar: 'enā 'abdeh d-Māryā

'nā (answered) Yukhannan (Yukhannan) w- 'emar (and-said) 'enā (I) 'abdeh (servant-of) d-Māryā (the-Lord)

→ Yukhannan answered and said: 'I am the servant of the Lord.'

Sentence 10

חָא אָפַק מִן מַדְבָּרָא לְאַמְמֵה

Hū 'appaqnī men madbārā d- 'alep l- 'ammeh

Hū (He) 'appaqnī (brought-me-out) men (from) madbārā (the-wilderness) d- 'alep (to-teach) l- (to)

'ammeh (his-people)

→ 'He brought me out from the wilderness to teach his people.'

Sentence 11

וְרֻחָא דְאַלְהָא חֵי דְ אֲהַיַּת לִי וְאַקְרֵבְתִּי לְמַלְכוּתֵהּ

w-rūḥā d-Alāhā hī d- 'aḥyat lī w- 'aqrebtī l-malkūtteh

w- (and-) rūḥā (the-Spirit) d-Alāhā (of-God) hī (she/it-is) d- 'aḥyat (who-gave-life) lī (to-me) w- 'aqrebtī

(and-brought-me-near) l-malkūtteh (to-his-kingdom)

→ 'And it is the Spirit of God who gave me life and brought me near to his kingdom.'

SECTION 8: EXERCISES

Exercise 1: Stem Identification

Identify each verb form as Peal or Aphel, give its person/number/gender, root, and English meaning.

#	Estrangela	Transliteration
1	ܐܠܦ	'alep
2	ܟܬܒ	katab
3	ܐܗܝܝ	'ahyī
4	ܐܙܠ	'azal
5	ܐܩܪܒ	'aqreb
6	ܡܐܠܦ	ma 'lep
7	ܫܡܐ	šma 'ē
8	ܐܦܦܩ	'appeq
9	ܟܬܒ	kāteb
10	ܐܒܠܝ	'aglī

Exercise 2: Conjugation Drill

Fully conjugate the following two Aphel verbs in the perfect (all 10 persons) and the participle (all 4 forms). Use the paradigm in Sections 4–5 as a model.

6. Root š-d-r (send) — Aphel: 'ešdar

7. Root r-m (be high) — Aphel: 'rīm (exalt)

Exercise 3: Translation Drill (Syriac → English)

Translate the following sentences into English. All contain Aphel forms.

8. ܐܠܐܗܐ ܐܗܝܝܠ ܐܡܡܗ (Alāhā 'ahyī l-'ammeh)

9. ܝܘܗܢܢܐܢ ܐܠܦ ܠܬܠܡܝܕܐܘܗܝ (Yūhannan 'alep l-talmīdāw-hy)

10. ܠܗܘ ܐܦܦܦܩ ܠܗܘܢ ܡܢ ܒܝܬ ܐܫܘܪܐ (Hū 'appeq lhūn men bēt 'esūrā)

11. ܠܐܓܠܝ ܫܪܐܪܐ (Rūḥā 'aglī šrārā)
12. ܡܪܝܐ ܐܩܪܒܢܢܐ ܠܡܠܟܘܬܬܗ (Māryā 'aqrebnān l-malkūtteh)
13. ܡܐ ܠܦܢ ܐܢܐ ܠܟܘܢ ܐܘܪܗܐ (Ma 'lep 'enā lkūn 'ūrḥā)
14. ܐܢܬ ܪܝܡܬ ܠܐܒܕܐܟ (Ant 'rīmt l- 'abdāk)
15. ܠܗܢܘ ܐܘܠܦܢܐ ܕܡܠܟܘܬܬܐ (Hannū 'ūlpānā d-malkūtā)

Exercise 4: Production Drill (English → Syriac Aphel)

Render the following causative sentences into Syriac using the Aphel stem. More than one correct answer may exist.

16. God revealed his glory to the people.
17. She taught the children the law.
18. The Spirit brought him out of the wilderness.
19. You (m.pl.) have brought near the offering.
20. The prophet gave life to the dead (mītē).
21. The Lord exalted the humble (makīkē).

Exercise 5: Reading Comprehension

Re-read the story in Section 7, then answer the following comprehension questions in complete Syriac sentences if possible, or in English.

22. What did Yuxhannan say the Lord sent him to do?
23. What three actions does Yuxhannan attribute to God in his speech? (Name the Aphel verbs.)
24. What question does the man from the crowd ask?
25. How does Yuxhannan identify himself?
26. What brought Yuxhannan out of the wilderness and brought him near the kingdom?

SECTION 9: ANSWER KEY

Section 1 Warm-Up

Q1: Peal perfect 3 m.sg. of k-t-b: כתב (katab) = ‘he wrote’

Q2: Absolute: מלך (malk, ‘king’); Emphatic: מלכא (malkā, ‘the king’); Construct: מלך (malk + genitive, ‘king of...’)

Q3: ‘He is great’ — verbless clause with pronoun as copula

Q4: אצל (‘āzel), ‘going’ — the CāCeC pattern

Q5: Root: k-t-b; Stem: Peal; Form: perfect 3 f.sg. — ‘she wrote’ (the same letters also spell 2 m.sg. and 1 c.sg.)

Exercise 1: Identification

#	Stem	Person	Root	Meaning
1	Aphel	3 m.sg.	’-l-p	he taught
2	Peal	3 m.sg.	k-t-b	he wrote
3	Aphel	3 m.sg.	ḥ-y-y	he gave life
4	Peal	3 m.sg.	’-z-l	he went
5	Aphel	3 m.sg.	q-r-b	he brought near
6	Aphel Ptcp	m.sg.	’-l-p	teaching
7	Peal	3 m.sg.	š-m-‘	he heard
8	Aphel	3 m.sg.	n-p-q	he brought out
9	Peal Ptcp	m.sg.	k-t-b	writing/writer
10	Aphel	3 m.sg.	g-l-y	he revealed

Exercise 3: Translation

#	Translation
1	God saved his people.
2	Yukhannan taught his disciples.
3	He brought them out of prison.
4	The Spirit revealed the truth.
5	The Lord brought us near to his kingdom.
6	I am teaching you the way.
7	You (m.sg.) have exalted your servant.
8	This is the teaching of the kingdom.

Exercise 4: Production (sample answers)

27. Alāhā 'aglī šūbḥeh l- 'ammā

28. 'alepat l-yalūdē nāmūsā

29. Rūḥā 'appaqeh men madbārā

30. 'aqrebtūn qūrbānā

31. Nebīyā 'aḥyī l-mītē

32. Māryā 'rīm l-makīkē

Exercise 5: Comprehension

#	Answer
1	To teach them the way of life ('ūrḥā d-ḥayye).
2	'aḥyī (saved/gave life), 'aglī (revealed), 'aqrebtūn (brought near).
3	‘Who are you, and who sent you?’
4	As the servant ('abdeh) of the Lord.
5	The Spirit of God (Rūḥā d-Alāhā).

SECTION 10: GRAMMATICAL SUMMARY

THE APHEL STEM — FORMATION RULES

Feature	Rule	Example
Perfect prefix	'a- (Ayin-Alaph) before root	'a + R1 + e + R2 + suffix
Perfect 3 m.sg.	'a + R1R2eR3 (no suffix)	'alep, 'aḥyī, 'aqreb
Suffix set	Same as Peal perfect	-at, -t, -ti, -et, -ū, -ī, -tūn, -tin, -n
Participle prefix	m- before root	m + ' + R2 + e + R3
Participle 3 m.sg.	ma ' + R2eR3	ma 'lep
Participle suffixes	Same as all participles	-ā (f.sg.), -īn (m.pl.), -ān (f.pl.)
Core meaning	Causative	'to cause X to happen' / 'to make X do Y'

Meaning Pattern

PEAL (basic) + 'a- prefix = APHEL (causative) 'to X' → 'to cause to X' / 'to make X happen' ḥ-y-y: live → 'aḥyī: give life/save | q-r-b: draw near → 'aqreb: bring near | n-p-q: go out → 'appeq: bring out

Comparative Summary: Three Stems

Stem	Meaning	Perfect 3 m.sg.	Participle m.sg.	Translation
Peal	Basic	katab	kāteb	'he wrote' / 'writing'
Paael	Intensive/Factitive	qaddaš	mqaḍdeš	'he sanctified' / 'sanctifying'
Aphel	Causative	'alep	ma 'lep	'he taught' / 'teaching'

Remember: In all three derived stems (Paael, Aphel, Ethpaael, etc.), the active participle always takes a m- prefix. This is your clearest signal that you are reading a derived-stem participle.

SECTION 11: ADDITIONAL VOCABULARY

The following high-frequency words round out this lesson's vocabulary to 30 terms.

ESTRANGELA	TRANSLITERATION	GENDER/TYPE	MEANING
ܩܪܝܬܐ	qrītā	f	village
ܠܫܢܐ	leššānā	m	tongue, language
ܥܡܐ	garmā	m	bone
ܟܦܐ	kēpā	f	stone, rock
ܡܝܐ	mayyā	m.pl	water
ܢܘܢܐ	nūnā	m	fish
ܡܕܝܬܐ	mdittā	f	city
ܫܡܫܐ	šemšā	m	sun
ܕܠܐ	tar ‘ ā	m	door, gate
ܡܫܗܐ	mešhā	m	oil
ܗܝܠܐ	ḥaylā	m	power, army
ܥܕܢܐ	’ednā	f	ear
ܩܝܣܐ	qaysā	m	wood, tree
